

Nokia E50

Making business calling more productive.

- Push email for an 'always on' connection
- Microsoft Office™ applications viewer
- Large memory storage with up to 70MB
- High-quality speakerphone and enhanced voice commands
- Quad-band for worldwide use
- Bluetooth™ for hands-free and PC connectivity

The Nokia E50 is packed with advanced voice features that make business calling more productive and efficient. It has exceptional voice functions including a high-quality speakerphone and enhanced voice commands and because it's quad-band you can use it around the world.

It's excellent for email on the move, with a larger than average colour display for extra clarity. Plus it's an easy step to make for anyone used to classic Nokia design and menu layouts.

Who will use it?

Everyone from mobile workers to managers, sales people and consultants. In fact, anyone who wants to add mobile email to their next phone without compromising size, style or other Nokia features that they're used to.

Why buy?

The Nokia E50 phone's large, high-resolution colour display allows you to easily view web pages, images and documents. It incorporates an MS Office applications viewer so your colleagues can email Word, PowerPoint and Excel attachments directly to your phone, increasing your productivity while you're on the move. And with up to 70MB of storage, they can stay there for as long as you need them. You can record audio from meetings or even use the 1.3 megapixel camera to capture up to an hour's worth of video.
